Believing the unity of the Readjuster party more important than any other mat-ter new before the people of Virginia, as it guarantees a speedy settlement of the debt question, I will, if a representative body of that party decide that my candidacy is not for its best interests, bow to its decision, preferring the triumph of its principles to the gratification of any personal ambition.

The elements of opposition in this district to the faction calling the Convention of July 27th, to be held at Ashland, are ample to defeat it overwhelmingly if they are conentrated on one man. Scattered, they will encounter the defeats hey have so often suffered.

I feel that no appeal to the Readjuster support me is necessary. I would remind Republicans that they in this district to hope to do more now by nominating a candidate than to elect the nominee of the Convention at Ashland by drawing off support from me. It is for hem to decide which they prefer.

Lastly, I would remind a large number of personal friends who are likely to hesitate in their support of me because I am running against what they call the "regular" nominee that if I waited to run for Congress until I could obtain a machine nomination I would be too old to serve the district when I took my seat. And if the ndulgence of personal preference in poliics is ever admissible in favor of a friend t is when it is palpable to all that personal mimosities are aroused and active against him under the guise of political opposition. If elected to Congress I will take the seat, not as a partisan, but as a representative purposes.

I will not use the office as a convenience, to be laid aside when I am ready to leave the State. I was born here, have lived here all my life, and expect to die here. If elected will work not only from pride, but from nterest, to prove worthy and to retain the place long enough to be of service to my constituents and to earn a reputation for myself. I know of no more powerful incentives to prove worthy of a trust. If lefeated I will bear the fortunes of political life with becoming dignity and good temper, grateful to my friends, asking or and expecting no favors at the hands of ny opponents. Whether elected or defeatd, I shall conduct this campaign with ourtesy and kindness, and shall demand ke treatment for myself, not only from the ortunate gentleman who shall secure the nomination on July 27th, but from every entleman participating in the discussions. In conclusion, I beg my friends and suporters to abstain from and take no part in the primary election called for July 15th by Messrs. Williams, Cardwell, and Hudgin. Respectfully,
